

Our Problems Are Not All Technological

Many Of Them Are Human Concerned With People

An example is our work force. It's an excellent one and we're proud of it, but we're concerned about the future as well as the present and concerned about the availability of workers to harvest wood in the forest as well as about the availability of workers to convert the wood into paper in our Manistique mills.

Because of our concern we're supporting the program of Operation Action-U. P. and other agencies which work for the organization of economic forces in the Upper Peninsula to nourish the area's growth. Operation Action's last meeting heard reports of the change in the Upper Peninsula from an area of woods labor surplus to one of woods labor scarcity. This is a shadow on growth of U. P. wood industry that must be removed if we are to move forward in industrial growth.

We're working for this solution as a need of our industry as well as a need of the Upper Peninsula and we also urge other organizations and individuals to work for it, too, as a vital contribution to economic development in the Upper Peninsula.

Clothing Gifts Total 45 Tons

Clothing shipped from Upper Peninsula Catholic parishes for the needy of the world totaled over 45 tons, says Msgr. David P. Spelgatti of Ishpeming, diocesan director of the Thanksgiving Clothing Collection.

With 84 parish units reporting in, the total of usable clothing, bedding and shoes shipped from the Marquette Diocese stood at 90,953 pounds in this annual effort. In all, 2,717 cartons have been shipped since November.

Of the total, nearly 12 tons came from nine large parishes while another two dozen parishes shipped 1,000 pounds or more.

The largest amount came from St. Peter's Cathedral parish, Marquette, shipping 3,760 pounds. St. Ignatius of Houghton shipped 2,772 lbs.; St. Mary's of Sault Ste. Marie, 2,610 pounds;

St. Mary Joseph, Iron Mountain, sent 2,600 lbs.; St. Michael's, Marquette, 2,530 lbs.; St. Paul's, Negaunee, 2,335; St. Ambrose, Ironwood, 2,290; Guardian Angels, Crystal Falls, 2,065. St. Patrick's, Escanaba, 2,012; St. Joseph & St. Patrick, Hancock, 1,985 pounds, among the larger contributors.

Staff To Meet With MacMullen

Ralph A. MacMullen, Lansing, director of the Conservation Department, will be in Escanaba on Tuesday, Feb. 1, to meet with Department employees of the Escanaba and Newberry districts.

Glenn Gregg, the Department's Upper Peninsula regional manager, said that MacMullen will arrive in Escanaba by plane at 9 a. m. and will meet with Department staff beginning at 9:30 a. m. in the State Office Building.

"The director wants to contact as many of the Department's field people as possible, and to this end they are coming in from the Newberry and the Escanaba districts, with some local staff as well for the session," said Gregg.

The director will make acquaintance with the field people and reply to questions at the meeting in the conference room of the State Office Building. He will lunch at Escanaba before leaving for Baraga, where a new district headquarters building will be dedicated. MacMullen became director of the Department in 1964, succeeding Gerald E. Eddy, who resigned.

The former deputy director of the Department's staff operations helped shape some of the changes resulting from reorganization recommended by a study committee.

He is a 1939 graduate of the University of Michigan with an A. B. degree in zoology and began work with the Department as a game biologist in 1946. He received his Ph. D. degree in zoology from Michigan State University while he was in charge of the Department's game research program in 1956. He became deputy director of staff in 1962, a position he held until his advancement to director. Through the years he has been identified with many professional groups conservation associations.

NMU Students Hit At Search

MARQUETTE—Northern Michigan University made a "room inspection" while students were absent for the holiday vacation, opening doors, drawers, lockers and closets—and a Pandora's box of student criticism.

The Student Senate addressed a stinging letter to Dr. Edgar L. Harden, NMU president, in which he was told that "if the University hopes to inspire integrity among its students, it must first act with the same integrity itself."

Val Richard Landi, president of the Student Senate, said: "The Student Senate, on behalf of the student body, absolutely condemns such a search, and the secretive methods employed by all those involved."

"The Senate further condemns the invasion of private property that such a search constituted; closets, drawers, luggage, and personal possessions were thoroughly searched." This was called "gross violation of privacy."

The Northern News, student publication, Jim Almy editor, devoted a couple pages of its Jan. 20 issue to the controversy. Almy wrote that in his opinion the search was a "rude, irresponsible act ordered by people whose respect for the student as an individual is non-existent."

"Just as I must add, the respect of many students (motorcycles in Gant Hall, booze in other rooms, food hoarded and property stolen) for the administration is non-existent."

Dean Allen Niemi of NMU is quoted as saying that the school is technically within its rights when it goes into a room without the student being present and inspects drawers, boxes, closets and other places that might be used to hide property stolen from the university.

The Northern News editor concludes: "This campus will never have a decent student-administration relationship as long as administration continues to push the student body around."

Other published student comment included charges that when the unoccupied rooms were searched drawers were unlocked and left unlocked; men's suits had pockets searched; desks and student's closets and laundry bags were opened and searched; and that "there's no mention of the University's right to search a student's room in the housing contract we received."

Area Enrollment Increase Shows Need For Rooms

The Escanaba Area School District — largest in the Upper Peninsula — will go to its voters Tuesday in the latest in a series of bonding attempts to bring its elementary school facilities in line with growing enrollments.

It will be the fourth and most critical elementary building election for the district since 1962. All three previous proposals by the Board of Education since then have been defeated.

As a result, the district is woefully short of elementary classrooms.

Ten Rooms Lost

Since the 1962-63 school year, enrollment in Escanaba Area schools has jumped from 4,138 to 4,455 — an increase of 317. Over the same period the district has lost 10 elementary classrooms due to demolition of the old Franklin School.

Though not all of the increase in enrollment has been at the elementary level, most elementary rooms in the city are jammed. Many teachers have over 35 students in their rooms. The Junior High is being used for sixth grade classes.

First grade at Webster School got so big last fall that the Board of Education split it into two sections, sending one group into an audio-visual room which was hurriedly renovated and converted to classroom use.

The Board has a policy not to force a teacher to work with more than 40 students in a class. Ideal class size is between 20 and 25, surveys show.

Ask $1,450,000

The bond issue proposal next Tuesday asks $1,450,000 for construction of three new elementary schools and additions on three more. A new heating plant for the Junior High and Washington School is also included.

In the city, new eight-room schools would be built to replace Franklin and Washington. Another new eight-room building would be erected at a site near the Athletic Field and six rooms would be added to the John Lemmer School.

School officials point out, however, that while the program would build 30 new city elementary classrooms, it will result only in a 14-room increase from this year and a four-room rise from the days of the Franklin School. The over 60-year old Washington and Jefferson Schools would be torn down. Aside from the urgency of providing classroom space, the Board of Education is also concerned with escalating construction costs. Further delays in a building program could result in higher prices.

Costs Increase

The package proposal defeated in 1963, which included 38 classrooms and multi-purpose rooms for Soo Hill and Wells Schools, was estimated to cost $1,313,000. The proposal to be considered Tuesday — just three years later — provides only 32 classrooms and the multi-purpose rooms and will cost an estimated $1,450,000.

Cost to replace the Franklin School has jumped $38,400 from $278,800 in 1963 to the current estimate of $317,200.

Building plans are substantially the same.

The second question to be considered Tuesday is renewal of 3.0 mills of a 3.8-mill extra operating tax which expired with the 1965 tax bills. The Board reduced its request eight tenths of a mill because of improved state aid formulas.

Effect of "yes" votes on both questions would be a one-mill increase in school taxes from the 1965 tax bills.

TETON RANGE

So abrupt and without foothill "steps" is the Teton range in Grand Teton National Park, Wyo., that visitors stand virtually at the foot of the mountains and look up for more than a mile to the peak tops.

MORE AMERICANS are living longer with every passing year. The average life expectancy remains at about 70 years, according to latest statistics compiled by the U. S. Public Health Service, but many babies born today can look forward to much longer life terms. Newschart above shows percentage (figures at right) of children born today which will survive through the steps to age 85. One of every three will see it through to 80, and almost one in five will still be around at 85.

Labor Shortage Doesn't Affect Federal Forest

If there is a woods labor shortage in the Upper Peninsula—and he believes that there is—it must be affecting forest ownership other than the U. S. Forest Service, says George Semmens, timber sale officer of the Hiawatha National Forest.

The explanation for the Hiawatha Forest's good record of cutting this winter despite the lack of woods labor, thinks Semmens, is that the Forest Service has an active program of offering timber for sale. There is no comparable accent in private forest ownership and as a result when the timber harvest declines the federal forests are the last to feel it in their cutting operations.

"Our volume of wood—both sold and cut—is as good or better than in previous years," said Semmens. "It's hard to understand, if there is a shortage of labor, and I do think there is one. The sales and cuts are up everywhere in the country for the Forest Service. We have sold everything we have offered here this year and last year that was not true. Loggers bid prices up higher than they should go."

Sawlog Problem

"The cutters come to the timber offerings. In the United States the Forest Service lands are contributing more volume of wood per acre than other ownerships. We need private ownerships to contribute more volume to the resource demand. We need independent foresters to get private owners to put their timber on the market."

"The serious Upper Peninsula problem is hardwood sawlogs. It is noticeable in the bids. They are very high—fabulous. The state notices it too in bids for stage stumpsage."

"We don't know how to solve this problem of hardwood sawlog shortage. There is only so much timber of this kind to go around and we are meeting our allowable cut on hardwoods in the Hiawatha Forest and can't increase it. A lot of people want us to offer more timber to keep the economy going, but we can only go so far."

Surplus Aspen

Leland Hooker of the Michigan Tech Forestry Department has been making an inventory of surplus commercial woods in the Upper Peninsula for Operation Action-U. P. to support its effort for the development of wood industries. Hooker's preliminary estimate is that there is an annual surplus of about 325,000 cords of timber, of which about 35 per cent are softwoods, 20 per cent aspen and 45 per cent mixed hardwoods.

Hooker said the surplus timber available for industry includes no sawtimber, and he explained that the figures on cordwoods didn't tell anything about their quality, accessibility or location.

Semmens said that a Soo Line U. P. forest survey in 1964 estimated that the U. P. had 800,000 cords of surplus hardwoods and softwoods. The surplus of softwoods was 200,000 cords, of which one half was cedar with 70 per cent of it in the Eastern U. P. The Eastern U. P. had 55 per cent of the estimated surplus softwoods and a third of the surplus hardwoods.

U. P. surplus wood offerings are abundant in cedar, which varies greatly in quality. It has a 100,000 cord surplus yearly of sugar (hard) maple, and also sizeable surpluses of hardwoods like elm and red maple. Greatest surplus supply is of aspen and paper birch, about 240,000 cords, or a third of the total surplus.

Foreign Labor Won't Be Needed For Farm Crops

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz indicated Thursday he has won the battle of the braceros, which raised a storm among farmers and their congressmen who wanted to keep importing Mexican farm laborers.

Wirtz told a news conference he believes not a single bracero will be needed in the United States this year.

Before Congress allowed the Mexican farm labor program to expire, some 200,000 braceros and other foreign laborers flocked across the border every year during the peak U.S. crop harvesting seasons.

Wirtz, pushing a major program to recruit U.S. workers to fill the gap, authorized the use of only about 20,000 braceros last year — and only in emergency cases where major crop losses were threatened.

He said this was an 83 per cent cut in the use of braceros from 1964.

Wirtz said no braceros are expected to be needed this year, although he added that emergencies could arise in some crops, requiring the use of a limited number.

Congress let expire on Dec. 31, 1964, a law permitting Mexicans to be imported under contract to harvest U.S. crops.

All foreign workers now must come in under the immigration law with Labor Department approval.

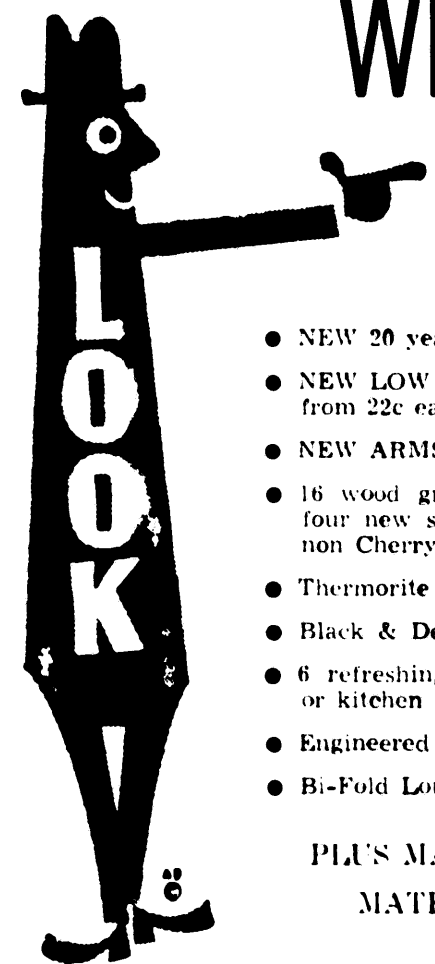

Wirtz said the program to end the use of foreign labor created tens of thousands of jobs for U.S. workers and raised farm labor wages an average of 6 cents per hour without boosting food prices.

Wirtz said the program improved the lot of American migrant farm workers and gave them an even better outlook for the future in developing farm labor into full-time employment at better wages and with better housing conditions.

Wirtz said he foresees the day when agricultural labor, now exempt from most federal labor laws, will be brought under the Fair Labor Standards Act and National Labor Relations Act, leading to minimum wage and overtime coverage for farm workers and assisting their organization into labor unions.

It also would sharply cut the use of child labor, now estimated at nearly 250,000 in agricultural work.

In 1933, the Nazi government took Albert Einstein's property and deprived him of his citizenship.

JEAN WORTH, Editor

Freedom Of The Press

Publisher Eugene C. Pulliam, owner of daily newspapers in Indiana and Arizona, was the principal speaker recently at a meeting of Arizona newspaper publishers. The main point of his speech was that freedom of the press has never been in greater danger in the last 300 years than it is now and that our constitutional democratic form of government is in equal danger.

He is so right! You can see it in all directions. The Federal Communications Commission is dictating equal time over the air on political disputes; it is placing restrictions on television programming by demanding that networks do this or that.

In our opinion it is high time that the Association of Broadcasters and the various newspaper publisher associations meet this issue head-on in a collective suit before the United States Supreme Court to reaffirm the principles of freedom of the press and freedom of speech, as set forth in the Constitution under the Bill of Rights.

If this is not done, the erosion of these fundamental principles will result in the disintegration of our democratic system. This suppression of the news leads to a political dictatorship.

In many states in this country there are commissions whose members are appointed, either for political or other reasons. These commissions are exercising police powers in complete conflict within the meaning of the intent of the U.S. Constitution and its guarantees of individual civil rights.

This quasi-judicial police control of people and enterprise must be brought to a complete halt in this country in the immediate future; otherwise we all might as well migrate to the Dominican Republic or the unexplored regions of the Arctic and Antarctic. We firmly believe in the fundamental laws and good enforcement thereof, but they should be based on sound legal enactment and sound legal precedent. They should not be enforced by whim or chance.

The risks of improper law enforcement lead to the destruction of the fundamentals on which the laws are based.

The forces of big government, both federal and state, are expropriating the rights of the people who are not working for the government to an almost intolerable degree. About one of four persons are now employed by federal or state governments. The other three, who pay the greatest amount of taxes for our economic system, are experiencing the greatest amount of erosion of economic and civil rights.

Presidential guidelines are well and good in the economic field, but it is equally important that we get federal and state guidelines to prevent big government from gobbling up the people.—Frank J. Russell.

Bait And Switch Tops Racketry

The Escanaba Chamber of Commerce says that the use of "bait and switch" tactics to retail overpriced merchandise has become the most widespread consumer gyp in the country.

Walter G. Lewke, Chamber manager, said this finding is based on the results of a nationwide survey of consumer racketeers conducted by the National Better Business Bureau. The top ten schemes are: Bait and switch; home improvement swindles; chain referral sales plans; charity gyms; phony credit certificates; business opportunity schemes; debt consolidation gouging; victimizing the aged; health quackery, and work-at-home gyms.

NBBB said bait and switch is a retailing racket which involves a provocative advertisement used as "bait" and an attempt to "switch" the customer lured by the ad from one product to another, higher-priced item.

Although it is outlawed in many states, the technique has been widely used over the years to retail a broad range of products. The upsurge in this scheme in 1965 was attributed to its growing use in the retailing of freezer meats.

Bait and switch techniques are also being used to retail sewing machines, appliances, siding, vacuum cleaners and carpeting.

Debt consolidation, a form of "super-usury" practiced by unlicensed second mortgage brokers and others, was the fastest-growing money-lending racket in the nation a year ago. Widespread publicity by Better Business Bureau and Chambers of Commerce greatly reduced the problem in 1965.

TELETHON

Many of our friends and relatives have been asking why we didn't appear more on the March of Dimes Telethon last Sunday.

We drove over 70 miles on slippery roads to find when we got there that because they were a little behind schedule, we were allowed only one number each.

The "Country Squires" had some good fiddle music lined up, but they just wouldn't let them play it.

They were very inconsiderate and we were very disappointed and hurt, by their lack of interest.

Many people in our area like country and western music, but apparently in Marquette it's rock and roll.

Sincerely,
Lorraine Irving

Dear Mr. Parks:

It gives me great pleasure to welcome you and your company to Michigan. I understand you have been able to acquire the land needed for your new plant at Menominee to augment your Milwaukee operation.

We are extremely happy that you chose Michigan for your expansion and I feel sure that you will be warmly received by the people of Menominee years ago.

Although Mt. Rainier, the highest volcano in contiguous United States, is still steaming, its last eruption of lava or pumice occurred about 2,000 years ago.

Car Peril "Worse Than Crime"

Drivers Urging Traffic Teeth

Michigan citizens have some definite ideas about how to reduce the highway traffic toll.

They include raising the minimum age from 16 to 17 and requiring drivers 65 and older to pass a physical exam when their license is up for renewal.

The survey was conducted by the Michigan State University Department of Communication in cooperation with MSU's Highway Traffic Safety Center. It was financed by a $40,000 grant from Chrysler Corp. Fund.

Willow Run To Be Shrunk When Airlines Leave

ANN ARBOR — Willow Run Airport, soon to be abandoned by its commercial airline tenants, has a future, its owners say, but in a reduced size.

The regents of the University of Michigan adopted a report which would halve the number of runways, thus reducing maintenance costs and keeping the operation of the field on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The master plan, prepared by Brewer Engineering Co., of Owosso, will be submitted to the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) and the Michigan Department of Aeronautics for approval.

Two of the commercial carriers now at Willow Run — TWA and Eastern — may move to new facilities at Detroit Metropolitan Airport as early as March 15.

The others — United, North Central, Lake Central, and Mohawk — are scheduled to complete their moves by midyear.

Three of the field's six runways would be eliminated, including the shorter ones in the east-west and northeast-southwest parallel sets, plus the north-south stretch.

Questions And Answers

Q—Can any birds walk easily on snow?

A—When autumn comes, ptarmigan and some other species of grouse grow appendages on their toes which act as snowshoes in winter.

Q—At what speed does the earth travel around the sun?

A—Average orbital velocity of the earth is 18.52 miles per second.

Q—What is the scientific name of ragweed, the plant that gives people hay fever?

A—Ambrosia.

Q—What does "to have the Midas touch" mean?

A—To have a faculty for acquiring wealth. In ancient mythology, Midas was a king who turned into gold whatever he touched.

Q—Why did Scheherazade tell the 1001 stories?

A—She talked for 1001 nights to keep her husband from killing her.

Q—What is the purpose of the tentacles of the Sea cucumber?

A—They are used for feeding. Its mouth is at the center of the ring of tentacles.

Q—What are the characteristics of skin cancer?

A—There are different types of skin cancer. The most common type occurs on the face—usually at the side of the nose. A small painless ulcer forms and is soon covered by a scab. After a time the scab falls off or is knocked off but, instead of having healed, the ulcer remains and another scab forms. The ulcer grows larger very slowly and the skin around its border becomes raised and hard.

Such a lesion is the easiest form of cancer to cure. When the diagnosis is made a wide excision of the ulcer is performed. Recurrence is rare.

A less common but more serious form of skin cancer is the malignant melanoma which may develop in a pigmented mole. Whenever such a mole enlarges or is seen to turn darker you should not delay having your doctor examine it to see whether or not a melanoma is forming.

Q—Is it harmful to use artificial sweeteners in coffee and cooking? Why are sugar-free foods and drinks labeled "For diabetics only"? Will the prolonged use of saccharin cause blindness?

A—Saccharin and other artificial sweeteners are perfectly safe. They will not cause blindness but the disease for which they are taken (diabetes) may. The Food and Drug Administration requires that the label on products containing these sweeteners state that they should be used only by persons who must restrict their intake of sugar.

This is not because they are harmful to themselves but to alert you to the fact that you are not getting the food value you have been led to expect in the sugar-containing products. Some artificial sweeteners (the cyclamates) are mildly laxative if taken in large amounts. Since artificial sweeteners have been shown to be ineffective as a means of reducing, it doesn't make any sense to use them unless you have diabetes.

Q—Does the Teflon in frying pans and waffle irons come off on the food? Is it harmful?

A—Teflon is so inert it can be implanted in the tissues permanently without harmful effect. It does not come off on the food and wouldn't do any harm if it did.

Q—What causes the tongue to become smooth and the taste buds to disappear?

A—The usual cause is an iron-deficiency anemia. Better get a blood count.

How To Squelch Specs Grabbers

Dear Ann Landers: Please, Ann, say something to women who need eye-glasses but refuse to wear them. I have friends who squint their way through card games, making errors in the score and misreading hands because they can't see. When a menu must be read, they ask to borrow my glasses "just for a minute."

Invariably the borrower is a person with a stout face, (I have a small thin face) and my glasses are bent out of shape. I have one friend who doesn't even ask. She reaches over, lifts the glasses off my face and says, "You'll have to lend me your specs, dear. The light in here is bad."

Please, Ann Landers, give me a semi-gracious out. — MRS. F. H. H.

Dear Mrs. H: The very next time a friend makes a move toward your glasses remove them at once and begin to clean them. Then say, "I am concerned about your eyesight and I feel guilty because I keep lending you my glasses. Here is the name of my ophthalmologist. Please make an appointment at once."

Dear Ann Landers: What do you think about a husband who accepts an invitation for both himself and his wife and then forgets to tell her about it until it's too late for her to go?

It happened again last night. Claude leaped from the dinner table and shouted, "I forgot to tell you. Tonight we were invited to a dinner party at Vic and Tessie's." He added, "I know you can't make it now so I'd better get into my blue suit and go right over so they won't feel hurt. I'll say you are sick."

Of course I couldn't go. My hair was a mess and I couldn't get anyone to stay with the kids on such short notice. Why does he do this? Is he ashamed of me, or just thoughtless? — WIFE OF A BACHELOR

Dear Wife: An invitation to a dinner party should not be delivered orally to the husband. Your friends must be pretty dumb if they don't know better. And your husband sounds like a clunk, too—running off alone. Please tell him to stay home where he belongs if the hostess didn't have the common courtesy to call you.

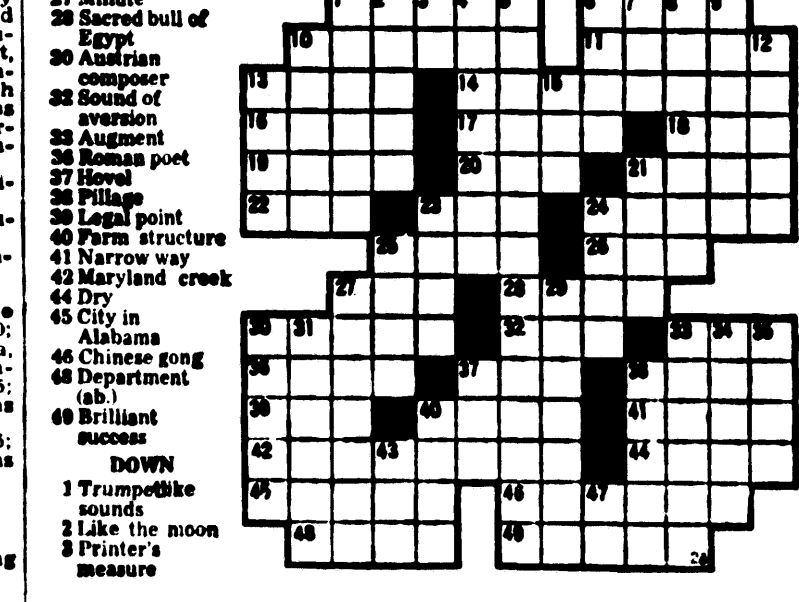

Dear Ann Landers: We have two children. The boy is 20 a bachelor is an unbreakable habit.

Judging by some divorce cases we've read about, being a bachelor is an unbreakable habit.

Hado's They'll Do It Every Time

DISTINCTIVE Split Level: Everything about this split level, including the attractive exterior, with its fixed windows above the regular windows, is a bit different, making it a house for a family with a liking for bold design.

Split For Large Family

By ANDY LANG
The beautiful split level featured this week is not a home for the timid. It is meant for those families who love contemporary and are not afraid to show it. It is, in short boldly modern.

Design G-19 has all the inherent glamour associated with split levels, including the advantage of elevated bedrooms. It has none of its disadvantages for architect Samuel Paul has incorporated into it all the conveniences associated with fine ranch houses. Prime example of this is the location of all the service facilities on the same level and within a few steps of the kitchen. In this location are the service entrance, laundry room, a lavatory, storage closets and the garage. There is also an extra room which can be used as a study or den.

From the spaciousness of the interior, it isn't hard to tell that this House of the Week is for a large family. There are four bedrooms on the upper floor, with their two full baths and abundant closet space. There is also provided an optional plan for the ground floor which can add a fifth bedroom and third full bath to the home if needed or desired. And note roomy circulation foyer in the bedroom wing, the large linen closet and the dramatic, sloping, cathedral ceilings throughout the house, including the master bedroom and one other bedroom.

The living room and the dining room share a sweeping cathedral ceiling which reaches up to a height of more than 16'. The kitchen and dinette likewise share such a ceiling (although lower); even the entrance foyer and that extra room near the service entrance have sloping ceilings. One of the advantages of these high ceilings is the continuous band of large fixed glass windows above the regular height windows and extending up to the underside of the roof. Aside from the exterior attraction of these windows, they serve to bathe the interior with an abundance of daylight. Very wide overhangs have been incorporated into the design to eliminate the heat and glare of direct sunlight.

The formal entertainment area of the house, the combination living and dining room, encompasses an area of almost 36' across the rear. It is surrounded by that continuous cathedral ceiling, features a lovely stone fireplace, a parquetry wood floor, and sliding glass doors which lead to the rear patio.

For informal entertaining (and children's entertainment), there is a large recreation room on the ground floor, with its own sliding glass doors to the rear. Even if the option were elected to add the fifth bedroom and extra bath, there still would be enough room for a recreation area.

The kitchen, aside from its convenient location, is attractive and efficient. There is also an informal dinette alongside. Both have large expanses of windows.

Storage has not been neglected either. There is a large storage and heater room located on the ground floor adjacent to the recreation room. In addition, the two-car garage provides plenty of space at both sides for storage, tools, workshop, garden equipment, etc.

For the family willing to try something different, without sacrificing warmth and convenience, this house could be the answer.

G-19 STATISTICS

Design G-19 has a combined living room, dining room, a combined kitchen-dinette, four bedrooms, a laundry, lavatory, study and two-car garage on the main floor, with a habitable area of 1981 square feet. Counting the recreation room on the ground floor, the total living area moves up to 2872 square feet. The overall dimensions are 83' 1" by 38' 9". The full plans include a provision for a fifth bedroom and an extra bath on the ground floor if desired.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here's a tip for tight budgets, that suddenly have maternity clothes added:

All one has to do is rip open the front seam of slacks or Bermuda shorts, and insert a V-shaped panel (with drawstrings threaded across the top of the inserted panel.)

Presto — maternity slacks at no extra cost; and the best part of it is that after the baby arrives, the panel may be removed and the garment sewn up on its original seam again.

The most unusual part of this is that the idea was my husband's!

Mrs. R. A. Guth

Dear Mrs. Guth:

Before I had my last baby, I split the seams on all my skirts that had a seam in the middle of the front, and used pieces of colored T-shirts for the insert. (The hem serves as a casing for the drawstring). The jersey-type material stretched beautifully, and is so soft. This is especially good for black or navy skirts.

Along about the last few months, I discovered that if I made my blouses long enough, they would cover the insert nicely.

Another little hint for those in their first months of pregnancy:

Buy a package of big safety pins.

You can unbutton the band on any skirt, open the zipper a bit, and use these wonderful gadgets to put through the buttonhole on the skirt band, and pin it to the side with another safety pin!

On some skirts you can use as many as four pins, one interlocked through the other.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I am the mother of small children.

I wished to decorate their bedrooms, but did not want to go to the expense of buying wallpaper.

I bought a coloring book containing cute nursery pictures. I cut out the pictures I liked, put a sheet of heavy carbon paper behind each picture, and traced the complete image on the wall.

I purchased several colored, washable-type marking pens, and painted the pictures to blend with my color scheme.

This works best if the walls are painted with washable paint, because when it comes time to redecorate, the pictures will wash almost completely off, so that they will not show through the new paint.

The wall in my one-year-old daughter's room is filled with nursery rhymes and circus animals, which she enjoys and is rapidly learning to identify.

I have received many compliments on my decorating idea.

Mrs. Jon Nelson

Great idea, Mom!

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When mending a glove, put your finger in a thimble, then into the finger of the glove.

It will be much easier to mend the glove, plus the fact that you will have no pricked fingers.

Lottie Carlyle

Dear Heloise:

Please allow a man to pass along an idea for your scrapbook.

When fixing up a thermos bottle of coffee for lunches, fishing, or just so you won't have to reheat coffee during the morning when you want another little slug — don't get upset by trying to put sugar into the little hole on top of the bottle with a regular teaspoon, funnel or what have you.

Just take the lid of the coffee pot off, remove the "working parts," leaving nothing but the pot itself, and add sugar to the hot coffee while it's still in the pot. Stir and pour into bottle.

Clayton Wise

And how wise you are, Mr. Wise! No more spills or having the sugar stick to the mouth of the bottle so the stopper is hard to put in.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When I want to make a cake, and fail to put the butter or oleo out to soften ahead of time, I cut the sticks of butter or oleo into small bits in the mixing bowl. This softens quickly.

I can cream the shortening easily after I've collected the other ingredients for the cake.

session will be held at the home of Miss Barbara Broman.

His Plan Best For Veterans, Governor Says

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney declared today that his proposed scaled-benefits plan for Michigan veterans is superior to Democratic plans.

He said he was encouraged by the attitude of veterans' leaders to whom the plan was presented Wednesday night at Romney's Bloomfield Hills home.

But some Democratic legisla-

Dental School Gets Approval

LANSING (UPI)—The state Senate Thursday approved a supplemental appropriation bill of $4.3 million for capital development and education buildings.

Senators also authorized accepting bids for a new dental school at the University of Michigan. Spending of up to $16.8 for the project was authorized.

Sen. Garland Lane, D-Flint, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, said the measure had to be approved with "dispatch" because of a Feb. 15 deadline for accepting bids. Otherwise, he said, much higher costs might follow.

There also was a matter of urgency to approve construction costs and get the new building started, Lane said, because the present school, constructed in 1908, failed to meet required pre-clinical standards. He said the school's accreditation was being threatened.

The new building would permit an increase in enrollment of 490 to 820 students, a 100 per cent increase to from 78 to 160 dental hygiene students and nearly a 100 per cent increase, from 66 to 125 students in the graduate dental school.

Lane said the state already has agreed to pay nearly $2 million in penalty costs to hire bricklayers to work on the building.

Chairman of Commission on Membership and Evangelism, Stanley Peterson; Christian Education, Mrs. Stanley Peterson; Missions, Mrs. Alfred Anderson; Stewardship and Finance, Leslie Sundquist; Christian Social Concerns, Mrs. Leslie Sundquist.

Stewards, in addition to those listed above: Clarence Anderson, Mrs. Bertel Erickson, Mrs. Arthur Fournier, Mrs. Ebrath Peterson, Mrs. Tony Pirlet, Gildard Pearson; Hospitals and Homes Steward, Mrs. Esther Wickstrom; Communion Steward, Mrs. Harold Dahlberg, Stanley Peterson and Leslie Sundquist were reelected for another three year term on the Board of Trustees. Those remaining on that board are Harold Dahlberg, Ivan Sundquist, Alfred Anderson and Bertel Erickson.

Fulbright Denies Freeze Between Him And Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP)—Relations between President Johnson and Sen. J.W. Fulbright are excellent, the senator reports.

Fulbright scoffed at reports that a freeze exists between him and the President over the Arkansas Democrat's outspoken comments against the Johnson administration's handling of the Dominican situation last spring and the Viet Nam war.

Fulbright also told newsmen there was no significance to the fact that he was absent from a White House dinner Wednesday night honoring Chief Justice Earl Warren and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. The senator said White House dinners generally are dull, and he welcomed an opportunity to spend the evening at home.

March Draft To Call 32,900

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Army and the Marine Corps will draft a total of 32,900 men in March.

The Defense Department Thursday asked the Selective Service System for the quota. It said the Army would take 27,000 men and the Marines 5,000. The Navy and the Air Force are not planning to take any draftees.

The quota was an increase over the February quota of 29,400. January's draft call was 37,280 men.

Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey said last week if quotas remained above 30,000 he would have to allow the drafting of college students. A spokesman said Hershey has not yet decided the matter.

Chips And Splinters

Contributions To Chips Welcomed

Will Muller writes in the Detroit News that a new generation of Democratic legislators proposes changing the name of the Mackinac Straits Bridge to the G. Mennen Williams Bridge "but that these are well-intentioned friends that Williams would be better off without right now."

"Since the days of Horatio S. (Good Roads) Earle a Straits bridge had been an engineering dream. It was also the abacadaabra of politicians convinced that its mention would win them the Upper Peninsula voters."

"To attribute parenthood of the Mackinac Straits Bridge to Williams is to deny its birth record, distort history and destroy a painfully built unity of purpose."

Just 10 years ago veterans set about a proposal to name the bridge after Michigan's 32nd (Red Arrow) Division which marched with glory in two wars. The Legislature refused to do so, holding the present name peculiarly suited to purpose and history.

"Reports daily are intensified that Williams may engage Mayor Cavanagh in the U. S. Senate primary. While so busy, do Williams supporters want to snub Michigan veterans by putting his name on a bridge they once hoped would be a memorial? Some Democrats may be in Cavanagh's corner!"

The bridge cost $100 million and time has added to the bridge's luster but detracted little from its indebtedness. Governor Romney has urged that the state issue bonds on its own credit to reduce the bond interest rate and cut the bridge tolls. This would leave the state owing the $100 million.

"Democrats should consider whether Williams would want his name engraved on a $100 million debt just as he entered a statewide campaign for the Senate. Picture the license plate clerk holding out his hand and saying 'And three bucks more for G. Mennen Williams' Bridge!'"

Powers-Spalding Meetings Changed

Tony Revord Post 214 Legion and Auxiliary meetings have been postponed from Tuesday, Feb. 1 to Wednesday Feb. 2 due to a conflict of activities.

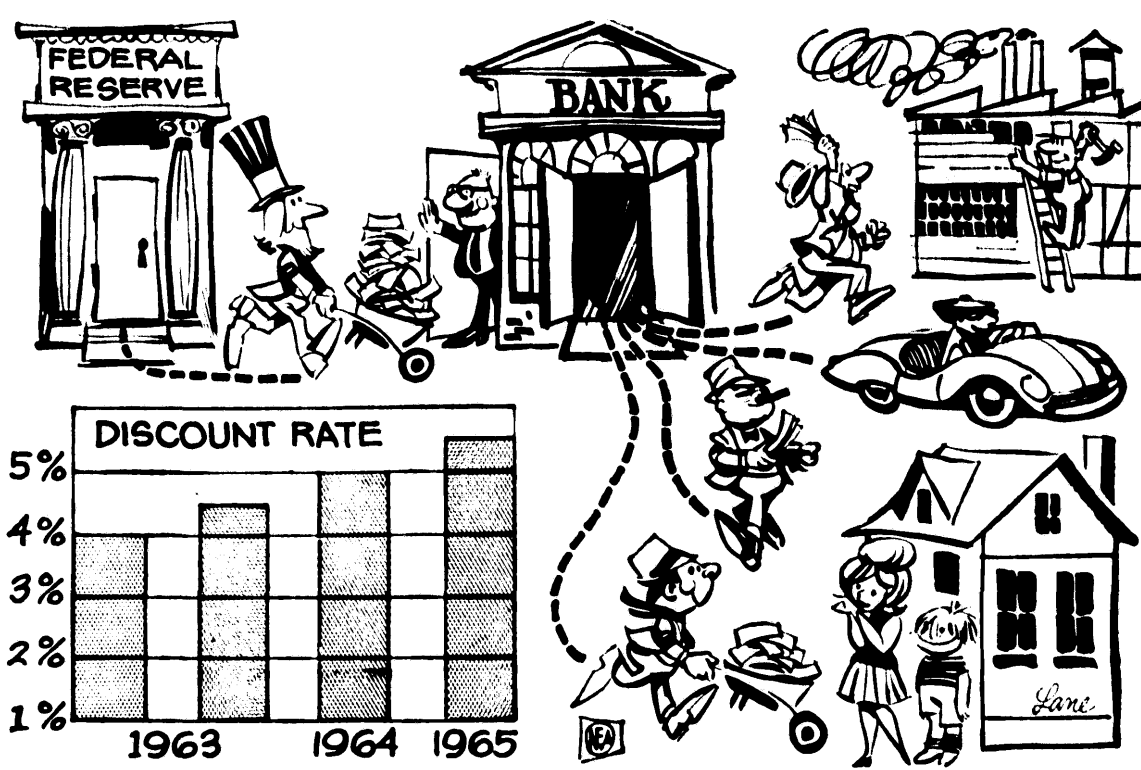

The Powers-Spalding volunteer firemen were called out twice over the past weekend. First call was at the Lloyd Kleiman home for a chimney fire. No damage was done. Second was a car at Pinecrest Medicare Facilities. Damage was minor.

Extension Club

On Tuesday evening twenty ladies met at the home of Mrs. David Draz for the regular Spalding Home Extension Study Club met. "Quick Meals" was the lesson given by leaders, Mrs. Nelson LaBonte and Mrs. Dennis Paquin. They showed how casseroles and salads can be made one or two days before they are to be used. Then within a half hour a complete meal can be oven heated and ready to serve. A buffet supper made up of the sample casseroles, salads and hot bread was enjoyed by all. Business was discussed and new recipes were copied.

Mrs. Alfred LeBoeuf showed a tote bag she made from bur-lap and designed with variegated yarn. Many women were interested in making them, so materials will be ordered by Mrs. LaBonte.

Mrs. Ronald Sharkey won the door prize. Mrs. William Wheeler was a special guest from the Powers Extension club. The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Alfred LeBoeuf. The lesson will be making the tote bag, the nylon stocking quilt and quilting.

CHAIN REACTION — The effects of the Federal Reserve Board's decision to raise its discount rate to 4.5 per cent will be felt throughout the economy. The discount rate is the interest charged banks borrowing Federal Reserve funds. An increase is passed along in the form of higher interest on money banks loan business for current production and plant expansion, inventories and underwriting credit to customers. It also raises banks' interest on personal loans and mortgages. Over-all effect is to make it more expensive to hire money from banks, thus restricting economic expansion based on borrowing. The Federal Reserve traditionally sets a low discount rate during slack economic periods, making money cheaper to borrow and thus encouraging business activity, and a high rate when a boom threatens to get out of hand and lead to inflation. Inset shows gradual increase of discount rate during current record-length boom from three per cent in early 1963 to current 4.5.

Ulcer Patients May Be Happy

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—The ulcer patient may be a happy man.

At least so says the University of Michigan.

The U.M.'s Institute for Social Research made a study of male patients in a Veterans' Administration hospital and took a comparison look at their brothers and brothers-in-law.

The study, reported in the Journal of Chronic Diseases, indicated ulcer patients frequently lead quite happy lives, possibly even happier than non-hospitalized members of the population.

Hypertension patients, on the other hand, the study indicated, tend to be most unhappy while sufferers from rheumatoid arthritis are low in self-esteem.

Sidney Cobb, M.D., and Santislav V. Kasl, Ph.D., of the University Institute for Social Research, directed the study of psychological and social characteristics of hospital patients with Edith Chen and Roger Christenfeld.

Exam Is Voided At U. Of Miami; Answers Stolen

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The University of Miami has voided the results of a final examination that was rifled from a professor's office by one student and sold to others.

Dr. Armin H. Gropp, vice president for academic affairs, said Thursday the 1,800 students who took the exam will not be required to take another. Instead, the dean's council has ruled that semester grades in the natural science course will be based on previous exam grades.

Dr. William R. Butler, vice president for student affairs, said an official university probe indicates that a single student was responsible for stealing the material.

Butler said it is still not known how many students had access to the exam.

Mead Breaks Sales Record

DAYTON, O.—Mead Corp. reported its fourth consecutive year of increased earnings and a new sales record in preliminary figures on its 1965 performance.

Mead's net earnings for the year ended Dec. 31, were $20 million, an all-time dollar high, according to Howard E. Whitaker, chairman of the board. This compared to a net of $17.8 million in 1964.

Earnings per common share rose 14 per cent, from $3.03 in 1964 to $3.45 in 1965.

Total sales were $547 million in 1965, up eight percent from the 1964 record of $509 million.

"Demand for paper, paper-board, shipping containers, packaging and other Mead products was exceptionally strong during 1965, and it shows no sign of slowing down at present," Whitaker said.

He credited "increased volume along with production efficiencies in all Mead divisions" as the key factors in the company's earnings gain. While market prices in some lines strengthened moderately in '65, Whitaker said they had not fully covered increased materials and labor costs.

Taxes on income in 1965 were $13 million, compared to $9.6 million in 1964.

Youth Who Told Dog To Bite Faces Sentence

Police said the charge was reduced from felonious assault after no laws were found to cover the use of a dog as a weapon.

Ferzacca Quits Northern Job; Dotsch May Take It

MARQUETTE—F. L. (Frosty) Ferzacca, head football coach at Northern Michigan University the past nine years, resigned Thursday to devote full time to his duties as athletic director.

In submitting his resignation to Dr. Edgar L. Harden, president of NMU, Ferzacca recommended that Roland Dotsch, current line coach at the University of Missouri and a former Northern assistant, be named as his successor.

Dotsch is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Dotsch of Garden and a former Escanaba High School football mentor. He coached the Eskimo gridders for two seasons, 1956 and 1957, and guided them to seven victories against seven defeats and two ties.

After leaving Escanaba for the assistant's post at Northern, Dotsch coached two years under Sonny Grandelius at Colorado before joining the staff headed by Dan Devine at Missouri in 1963.

Dotsch, 32, was an outstanding high school athlete at Alpena and was a varsity lineman at Michigan State before graduating in 1954.

Dotsch will visit the Northern campus this weekend to confer with Dr. Harden and Ferzacca.

Ferzacca has been head coach at Northern Michigan since 1957. He has never had a losing season. His nine year record was 50-26-2. His best season was in 1960 when the Wildcats had an 8-1-1 record. Last season the Wildcats had

PRESS CONFERENCE

Gil Heard, Northern Michigan University sports publicity director, said today that a press conference will be held in Marquette Saturday at 8:30 a.m., attended by Northern officials, Ferzacca and Dotsch. It is expected that Northern will announce the hiring of Dotsch as Ferzacca's successor at that time.

a 7-3 record and Ferzacca was named both the Associated Press and National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics Michigan coach of the year. It was the sixth coach of the year award in the nine years he has been at Northern Michigan.

Ferzacca coached at Marquette university in 1954 and 1955, where his teams had a 5-11-2 record. He was associated with the Green Bay Packers for one year in 1956 as a public relations official and scout.

He has been a coach for 32 years, including high school at Iron Mountain, and Green Bay West. His teams at Green Bay West had a 24 game winning streak to highlight his career there.

Ferzacca played football, basketball and track at Lake Forest (Ill.) college, where he earned 13 major letters.

In devoting his full time to the athletic directorship, Ferzacca will implement a complete minor sports program and will develop the planning of the university's facilities to meet future program needs.

Boston Win Behind Jones

By United Press International
Bill Russell may be "Mr. Basketball" in Boston Celtic country, but Sam Jones is still "Mr. Bucket."

Jones, the Celtics' leading scorer over the past several seasons, has been a little bit below last season's norm this year, but he broke loose for 32 points Thursday night to pace the Celtics to a 131-112 National Basketball Association victory over the Detroit Pistons.

The Pistons, playing as the "home" team at Fort Wayne, Ind., took an early 20-7 lead in the first seven minutes of play, but Jones led a Celtic rally that shaved the Detroit lead to just three points at half. Boston caught Detroit at 46-46 in the second period and went ahead to stay 60-57 on Don Nelson's three-point play.

Jones then led a Boston assault in the fourth period which saw the Celtics open up a large lead. Nelson chipped in with 22 points for the winners while playing-coach Dave DeBusschere had 32 for the Pistons.

There were no other games scheduled.

Two Keglers Explode For Honor Counts

A pair of area pin artists mauled the maples for national honor counts Thursday night.

Robert (Red) Holmes of the Metropolitan Bar team crashed a 730 series at the Continental Lane where Dave Friets had spilled a 707 earlier in the week. Holmes mowed down the lumber with games of 268, 195 and 267.

At the Midway Lanes in Gladstone, veteran Tony Gillis went on a pin binge for a 713 in the Independent League. Gillis chalked up the first 700 score of the season in Gladstone with games of 257, 246 and 210.

Writer Says Braves Have Nothing To Worry About; They'll Move To Atlanta

By MILTON RICHMAN
NEW YORK (UPI) — Okay, so what do the bedeviled Braves do now?

The answer is perfectly obvious. They go right ahead and do the same thing they intended doing all along. That is, they play all their home games in Atlanta this year.

But that would be in direct defiance of Milwaukee Circuit Judge Elmer Roller's latest order, you say. He told the Braves to make plans to play in Milwaukee this year.

Well, it so happens the Braves are under still another

Georgia court order to play in Atlanta this summer.

One thing is sure. They're going to have to disobey one of those court orders and guess which one it'll be.

Now that you figured out that answer, let's see what happens next. The Braves decide to follow the Georgia court order, as board chairman William C. Bartholomay already has said they will, and thereby run the risk of being held in contempt of court by Judge Roller.

Not A Party
The Braves' ball players can't very well be tossed in jail because they're not even really a party to this action. And once the Braves' officials leave Milwaukee, the Wisconsin court no longer will have any jurisdiction over them.

If bolting Milwaukee to play in Atlanta was a crime, Wisconsin legally could seek to extradite. But this is no crime; it's a civil offense and you can't extradite for that.

Besides, can't you just picture the Governor of Georgia turning over the Braves to the Governor of Wisconsin? Nonetheless, Judge Roller's order must be satisfied in some manner or other. What happens?

Well, if the judge does find the Braves in contempt of court and jailing them becomes impracticable, there's always that alternate penalty, a fine. How much? That depends. This case actually is unprecedented but some of the sharper legal minds around estimate the fine would run somewhere about $5,000.

If the Braves can get out of Milwaukee that cheaply, they'll figure it was a bargain. If you listen to them, they claim they've had $5-million worth of aggravation already.

Contrasting Orders
These two contrasting court orders with which the Braves now find themselves faced are not unprecedented. One of the orders tells the Braves to go left and the other tells them to go right, but such legal snarls have occurred before.

In one previous such conflict, no settlement could be reached until both judges were laughingly advised to employ "gentlemanly restraint."

In other words, Judge A was urged to listen to Judge B a little more and Judge B was asked to do the same with Judge A.

The Braves have still another possible out in this labyrinthine mess and the only wonder is that they haven't used it up to now.

Due largely to television, baseball long ago has been ruled as inter-state commerce. And in inter-state commerce, a state has no right to interfere with the business proceedings of those involved unless, of course, a crime is committed.

Milwaukee officials may think it's a crime that the Braves are going to Atlanta, but they'll never get a conviction in any court.

The Braves can't be considered completely guiltless in their flight southward, but since when is it against the law to take a trip for one's health?

In This Corner with Roy Crandall

Former Escanaban Jim Ward served as director of the Green Bay Press Gazette ski school, rated the most successful in the 20 year history of the annual promotion. The school graduated 530 novice skiers who earned their diplomas on Triangle Hill near the Packer city. Ward, now employed with the Green Bay Press Gazette, has long been a winter sports enthusiast and was once a major promoter of hockey in the Upper Peninsula.

Chuck Boorman, who set an all time school scoring record with 42 points for Calumet in a game against Painesdale last week, pumped 29 through the nets in a losing cause as the Copper Kings bowed to Lake Linden, 59-52. In Copper Country Conference action. Lake Linden rallied from a 31-22 halftime deficit to win its ninth start against three defeats.

Coach Gordy LeDuc's Negaunee St. Paul Emeralds crushed National Mine, 104-76, to run their Mid-Peninsula Conference record to 5-1. Triggering the St. Paul attack was veteran guard George Torreano who hit on 19 of 25 shots from the field and added seven free throws for 45 points.

The Ironwood Red Devils continued their runaway win in the Michigan-Wisconsin Conference race with an 88-56 decision over arch rival Hurley. The triumph was the eighth straight in the conference and 11th overall this season for Coach Gene Farrell's cagers. All 12 players on the Ironwood squad contributed to the scoring total with Guy Kangas tossing in 15 for individual honors.

Jody Kline, former All-Upper Peninsula cager at Sault Ste. Marie, is a starting guard as a sophomore on the Washington and Lee University basketball team in Lexington, Va. Kline, who saw action with the Generals as a freshman last year, has scored 146 points for a 9.8 average this season.

George Mathison announced this week that the 1965 World's Log Rolling Championships in Hayward, Wis., will be presented on the NBC-TV "Sports In Action" program Sunday, Jan. 30.

The Bessemer Speed Boys, who snapped a 42-game losing streak against Hurley last week, couldn't stand the prosperity and took it on the chin from Wakefield, 75-58, in a Michigan-Wisconsin Conference game this week. Wakefield, defending Upper Peninsula Class C champion, has won nine games this season while bowing twice, to Ironwood and Superior Cathedral. Coach Jim Daniels has two regulars, Al Inkala and Keith Clark, back from last year's team that reached the state tournament semifinals in East Lansing before bowing to Muskegon Christian, 68-54.

Jim Tonn, the only Upper Peninsula athlete ever to make the grade as a college rower at the University of Wisconsin, is far from Escanaba's frigid climate this week. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tonn of Escanaba who was a track and football athlete in his prep days here is one of 17 members of the Badger crew spending the semester break in training at Winter Park, Fla., getting set for his third season of competition. Tonn, who packs 190 pounds on his 6 foot 3 inch frame, earned his freshman numerals in 1964 and a varsity letter as a sophomore last year.

SOIL MANAGEMENT

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—Good soil management is as important to a farmer as a well-run office is to a businessman, John Box of the Texas Agriculture Extension Service says.

Crop production directly reflects a soil's physical condition and fertility status. Physical properties can be controlled by good use of residues, rotations, cover crops and manures to maintain deep, mellow soil condition.

THE VIEW FROM THE COPTER—Eastside Manhattan, with a slice of Central Park at left, stretches northward as seen from a helicopter which has just taken off from the new heliport atop the Pan American building in foreground. Service from the heliport, opened after years of controversy over possible dangers of low-level flights over the congested city, enables airline passengers to reach New York's airports in a fraction of the time required for ground transportation.

Indian Lake Producing Good Catches Of Pike

Indian Lake of Schoolcraft County and Big Manistique Lake of Luce-Mackinac counties have been giving the best catches of walleye, the conservation department office for the eastern U.P. district reports.

Ice and snow conditions are good on lakes, though some patches of slush have formed due to water seeping through pressure cracks.

In the Hessel area, ice is good but vehicles should be kept in main car paths on the ice. Fishing shanties, bait, transportation by snow sled and restaurant accommodations are available this winter in the Hessel area.

Good rainbow trout catches have been reported for Clear Lake in Schoolcraft County, using corn borers and mousies.

For northern pike, Millecoquins and Whitefish Lakes in Mackinac County were producing best results. Leonard Durga of Newberry speared an 18 pound 14 ounce (38½") northern pike at Millecoquins Lake Jan. 21.

Some pike are being taken in Snyder and Indian Lakes of Schoolcraft County and Brevoort Lake in Mackinac County. Pike fishing has been slow on Big Manistique Lake. Good-sized northern pike are being taken from East Lake in Mackinac County and Frenchman Lake in Chippewa County, although there are few fishermen in the areas.

Northern pike fishing is improving on Muskellonge Bay of Luce-Mackinac counties. A few pike are being speared in Lake George and Munuscong Bay.

Good perch catches were reported for Hulbert Lake of Chippewa County, using perch eyes, wigglers and small minnows. Some perch were reported caught at Les Cheneaux, Mackinac County and Indian Lake, Schoolcraft County.

Good-sized perch were caught on Brevoort Lake in Mackinac County. Fair catches were taken in Government, Muskellonge and Hessel Bays, using wigglers and perch eyes.

Long Bay in Whitefish Lake, Mackinac County is still producing bluegills. Few fishermen are reported for herring in Round Island area of the Upper St. Mary's.

Good smelt catches are reported for Highbanks Lakes and Hulbert Lake.

Deer live in nearly all parts of the world, except central and southern Africa and Australia.
